826 DIGITAL

WRITING

The Super, Duperest Person in the World

by Connor, Grade 5, Los Angeles, CA

TYPE

FANTASY/SCIFI

GENRE

GRADE 5

Bob was a big hero on both sides, as a chef and as a SUPA-HERO! He valued justice, food, good intentions, food again, five-star reviews, yeah, mostly food stuff. His sidekick, Sous Chef, was amazing too. Here, take a few quotes from Bob:

“Without food, life is an eternal abyss.”

“All villains are just hangry people.”

“The world is a bowl of cream of wheat. People are just the ingredients on top of it.”

He had saved the hungry world so many times! The world had one bad apple, though. (No pun intended.) It was Kevin! Kevin was the type of person that if you knew, you knew. Just look at one of his schemes.

He read it in the help wanted section of the newspaper while ordering at a local ramen stand.

“This Kevin person is a real nuisance, isn’t he!” said the ramen maker. At this moment, Bob and Sous Chef decided to go on an adventure to stop Kevin. Coming soon: September 23, 2026.

© 826 DIGITAL 2026

Really? You thought that was the end? After that, they went to their house to gear up. Bob got suited up in his pan-cape and frying pan, and Sous Chef took out the cooler with tons of food and also took out the ladle. They got into the picklemobile, put it on flight mode, and took off. While they were in the sky, they realized they were running out of food.

“We have to restock!” exclaimed Sous Chef. While they were at the local gas station, they met a peculiar pickle. Seriously. Just a pickle with legs and arms. Their name was pronounced like this, Kjafhvsakdjgvfhggsjfghfsgkafgkafakfgshjfgas. Seriously. Unpronounceable-name told Bob that Kevin had an army of people who hated food. They all decided to team up. As they flew to Kevin’s headquarters, they realized it was locked.

“Darn it!” screamed Unpronounceable-name.

Apparently, you need a key to get into the castle. BORING! The only key was located in the bunker owned by, you guessed it! Kevin. They broke through the vents and found a room known as the pit. If you like food, you get thrown into the super-dangerous scary pit of lava. Sneaking past guards, Bob made sure the picklemobile was hovering at the emergency exit. They got the key and got out of the bunker. It was easy to get in the picklemobile and escape. I thought it would be less anticlimactic.

© 826 DIGITAL 2026

Now that they had the key, they made a stop to get more fuel. When they were done, they unlocked the castle doors. When they got inside, they saw another pair of doors that said, “You really thought you could break in that easily?” And then, Sous Chef grabbed the F from his name and threw it at the door. The two lines in the F fit perfectly, and they unlock the door. Sous Che grabbed the F and then became Sous Chef again (so now I don’t have to remember that Sous Chef was missing an F). Inside the castle, they met Kevin, menacingly sitting on his throne. He didn’t say a word. Bob hit Kevin with the frying pan, but Kevin just fell to the ground. Right off his throne. Bob noticed a note on the throne. It read, “You are really gullible.” Unpronounceable-name put two and two together and realized that the kevin on the ground was a mannequin. (Now that they know this kevin was a fake, I can’t capitalize the name.) They ran back to the picklemobile and got in.

While flying, the Three Musketeers noticed a strange cat wearing boots. Oops, wrong stories. Our three heroes noticed a huge, massive, ginormous, gargantuan storm. Inside the storm, they saw a huge airship! Inside the airship was the real Kevin! (Insert dun dun dun sound effects.) In the core of the ship, they saw some pens! Why would Kevin want pens? These pens were sucking the yumminess from all the food in the world!

Bob yelled out, “You phony, fraud, fake, counterfeit, pirate, hoax, knockoff version of me!”

© 826 DIGITAL 2026

Kevin yelled back, “You think you can beat me with synonyms?!”

Bob screamed, “Yes we can!” Unpronounceable-name then threw a thesaurus at the ship’s core, and it stopped flying and started falling. But then they saw a mini-plane with Kevin on board, escaping! He went north and then made like a Waymo and did a victory lap before going to the real destination.

THE END

JUST KIDDING!

They followed the mini-plane and found his actual real castle. They kicked down the doors like in a superhero movie and entered. And you might be thinking, Erm, actually you can’t do that, because it is trespassing! Well, no, because yes. They entered and found Kevin menacingly trying to extinguish a fire with a fire extinguisher. He didn’t use it normally. He threw it at the fire, and it was extinguished. He then stood up and got into the fighting position. Then, the RPG music started playing in the background. He grabbed the moves tab from the screen and threw it at Unpronounceable-name. Unpronounceable-name then found the emergency station that read, “In case of fire, break glass,” and sprayed Kevin with the fire extinguisher. Sous Chef then found another station that read, “In case of glass, break glass.” He got the fire extinguisher and threw it at Kevin. Bob then found another one that read, “You know what to do.” He tore it out of the wall and threw it at Kevin. Kevin was banished to the shadow realm where that one bird who crashed into the window is.

© 826 DIGITAL 2026

THE END!

JUST KIDDING!

JUST KIDDING! YOU JUST GOT JUST KIDDINGed TO THE JUST KIDDING!

JUST KIDDING AGAIN!

After, they all went out to eat and built a statue of the three heroes in the land of the bread.

THE ACTUAL END!

JUST KIDDING!

JUST KIDDING AGAIN!

This piece was originally published in No Ordinary Dreamer by 826 National.

© 826 DIGITAL 2026