Purpuly is 15 years old and lives near a very sandy beach located on Wilton Street. Purpuly's house is oval and the outside is painted lavender and the inside wallpaper is tan. In the winter, it never gets cold because it stays as warm as a teddy bear in a baby's crib. She sleeps in a closet filled with hot and cozy blankets. Purpuly has long, pretty, flowing hair and is furry, blue-eyed, and five feet tall with short feet. She was born in a brown dark cave with webs everywhere. Her insides are caring like a bunny, sweet as a candy bar, and nice like a baby.

Purpuly's superpowers are to cook fast, clean fast, shop fast, and she has super speed in general. She has a squeaky voice, like an old wooden door in a creepy haunted house that also sounds cute. She likes to sing, dance, shop, and watch TV. She drives her blue Lokana car to go to work. Her dream is to have a mansion with a water slide that is orange, because she likes the color orange. She is afraid of spiders. Her secret is that she loves books, but she tells people that she hates books.

Purpuly loves tuna sandwiches a lot. For lunch, eats tuna. One day, she was going shopping for tuna, bread, and orange juice at Jewel. She went to the canned food section and got the tuna, then went to the bread section to get her white bread . . . but it was too high up to reach.

“Can you give me the bread up there?” she asked an employee. The employee got a ladder for Purpuly to reach.

Purpuly smiled and screamed out loud, “Thank you!”

She went to the juice section and got three orange juices. Purpuly went to the cashier and got out her credit card from her blue purse. She swiped her card down, then she entered her PIN. She put her food and drinks in a big brown bag. She came out of the store with a yellow cart and went to the parking lot for her blue car. Purpuly backed up the car slowly and got out of the parking lot.

She was driving to her oval house at the beach when all of a sudden a person called Nanu—a monster who loves to go outside to play or shop at stores—hit Purpuly’s blue car with her precious brand new, pink car!

Purpuly tried to get out of her car but her arm was broken like a wrecked ball. She screamed out, “My arm, my arm!”

Another person ran out of their car to help Purpuly get out.

The person that helped Purpuly called the ambulance for help.

“Hello, um, I need an ambulance on Elmer Street!”

Nanu and Purpuly got into an argument.

Purpuly’s cousin came from cold Canada later that day. They took her home after she came out of the hospital.

“You are okay, breathe in and out, Purpuly,” said her mother.

“OK,” she said, in a sad mood. Her arm was in pain.

Her family came to see her broken arm. Some of her cousins were British and Italian. They were going to stay with her, because she could not do a lot of stuff like cook or clean and write letters. Her family went to the hospital to check on Purpuly’s arm.

“Please help my daughter, please,” whispered her mom.

Purpuly went to Nanu’s house to talk about the car accident. Then they went to Rock’in Coffee to get coffee and donuts. They talked about what happened.

Nanu said, “I am sorry that I crashed into you, I was feeling dizzy and I am mad at you also, because it was my brand new car that I got at Cars Are Me.”

Purpuly said, “It’s okay it happened, but my arm is still hurting. My cast will help, the doctors said.”

Nanu said, “Let’s have a party and let’s be friends.”

“OK”, said Purpuly.

Purpuly had a party at Purpuly's house and Nanu and Purpuly became friends. They had chips, pop, pizza, and cupcakes. They had a dance-off and Purpuly's cousin won.
