

How to Write an Anti-Ode

This poem was published in Is It Tasty, Does It Go to Your Soul?, a book of student poems produced by 826 New Orleans.

Dang, Crawfish

Jordan, age 17, 826 New Orleans

I hate consuming crawfish.

I'd rather consume raw fish.

These little creatures should be handled very cautious. Every time they come to mind I get nauseous.

Crawfish is just like crab.

Annoying as hell, just like a scab.

Crawfish is atrocious.

Might as well be corrosive.

How to Write an Anti-Ode

Use the graphic organizer below to help your brainstorm ideas for your anti-ode.

	Food #1	Food #2	Food #3
How does this food make you feel when you think about it?
Describe these foods by using adjectives from all 5 of the different senses.
Do you always get to choose whether or not you eat this food? Describe the situation when you don't have a choice.
Which food(s) would you rather eat?			