Dear Kiki-Wi,

When I taste you, you bubble up in my mouth. You shine green... like algae. You're tough and fuzzy and I believe you can fly. You smell like water on the green part and dirt on the brown part. You are mushy and moist in my mouth like dew on a clover but with a little bit of sugar. After I eat you I feel tingly on my tongue. I shouldn't have eaten your skin. I looooooove you, but you are not as good as your friend doughnut. Bye!

I love you mostly,

Naomi
