

99 WRITING

Earth

by Kaitlyn, 826NYC

TYPE
INFORMATIONAL
POETRY
STEM

There was an iron ball surrounded by darkness and the only light was the stars.

Then one day, the sun and the moon came to visit. Light shone and the sky came. The sun dropped its suitcase full of dirt and it spread all over. The moon dropped its suitcase full of water and wet the land. They liked what they've done and decided to stay. They called this place
"Earth".