

WRITING

Bright Star

by Yvanna Bodiana, Age 13, 826 Valencia

TYPEPOETRY*GENRE*GRADES 7-8

Bright Star

Freedom should be a man born free

It should be a world where we can dream, think, speak and act

without being judged

A world where we are no longer ashamed of being Black

No longer in fear of being Black

We should be able to walk the streets not in fear of the cops

The same cops that took an oath to serve and protect

No matter what, being Black is like a bright star in the face of darkness

Nobody can take another's freedom

It was given at birth