The evil T-Rex Koala is so bad! It has scratches on its fur and has vampire fangs made out of pickles. He is scary and smells like spooky skeletons (which smell like dirt). In the night, he becomes a monster, but in the day he is a normal koala. His name is No Name and he can eat people in two bites like his T-Rex side. After No Name eats humans he keeps their bones to make a big house that he is able to live in. After he started building his house, he decided to go to San Francisco to eat all the people there! No Name started to eat all the people but he did not know that he was going to get trapped by the humans. No Name finally got trapped by the humans, he tried and tried to get out but he was too trapped. The humans were mad and decided to eat No Name!
